

Magnetic beads games .. absent Safety and fatal complications

Pediatric surgery doctors warned of the game of magnetic beads scattered in most places selling Children toys, and describe the game by (child killer) because of the seriousness of severe illness in the case of swallowing, after the increase in the number of cases of swallowing beads at different ages, especially from the age of 1 - 11 years and for this has been prevented sale of the game in many countries, Australia and New Zealand.

Game Specifications:

- 1 - The game of magnetic beads of more than 200 pieces of round or cubic small size of magnets (Neodymium) is a kind of magnet gravity 15 times more powerful than ordinary magnet and can be collected these pieces and formed in different forms.
2. Extremely attractive for children They are shiny, soft, round, small and colorful.
- 3 - marketed as fun games for children and adults.
4. Magnets may also be available as toy building blocks where magnets are covered by plastic in different shapes.

Risks:

1. Many of these games lack minimal security and warnings,
- 2 - The game of magnetic beads on the large numbers of small pieces are difficult to count if purchased in large quantities and therefore difficult to make sure to swallow some of them.
- 3 - The child may suffer from colic, vomiting and high temperature in the case of swallowing beads or small objects, while these symptoms spread in children as symptoms of other diseases, so it is sometimes difficult to discover the real cause of the time.
4. In the case of ingestion, the child may undergo emergency surgery to extract the beads, which may require the removal of part of the intestine, in addition to the introduction of some cases to intensive care.
- 5 - delay treatment and survival of the beads of the game in the body for a long period may cause serious injuries to the stomach, blockages and intestinal holes or even serious death.
- 6 - These holes may cause bleeding that, if neglected, and the failure of parents to deal seriously with the death of the child.

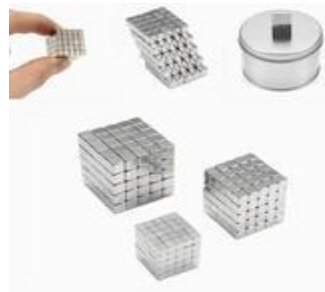

Important guidelines for the safety of our children:

- 1 - Parents should not acquire the game of magnetic beads at all.
- 2 - to ensure the immediate disposal of this product in the appropriate manner.
- 3 - keeping products and games with small pieces or poorly installed out of the reach of children to prevent the risk of swallowing their parts.
- 4- Children of all ages must not be allowed to play with small magnets and the instructions accompanying the game for children should be allowed to be used
5. Carefully monitor children during play and make sure they play in a safe environment away from magnetic tools.
- 6 - not to buy games containing more than a hundred pieces, where it is difficult to detect the decrease of one or more pieces if swallowed.
- 7 - Buying games suitable for the age of the child and protection of the risks.
8. Trying to talk to children by age group, explaining the risks of playing with magnetic beads or swallowing small pieces of toys.
- 9 - Check with your doctor in case of doubt or make sure that the child swallowed the pieces of the game.

With greetings from the School Health Administration
scientific Committee

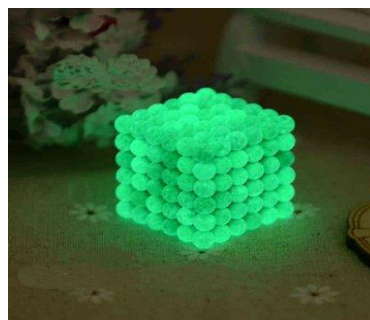

Game models each containing at least 216 small circular pieces

The game contains 125 small magnetic cubes of different sizes 3/4/5 mm

A game that contains dozens of columns and magnetic beams that attract children to build

Magic luminous games of magnetic beads

With greetings from the School Health Administration
scientific Committee