Bio:

Mariam earned her Bachelor's and Master's degrees from the reputed George Washington University in the US. Thereafter, she was Head of Human Resources in two companies. This experience enabled her to appreciate the value of a solid education that commences in the earliest stages of life. She is currently self-employed as a photographer. Mariam is a mother of two children at BBS. She firmly believes that her personal background, education and professional experience are the ideal reflection of Al-Bayan School's culture that blends Kuwaiti values with Western academic standards. She firmly believes that hard work, excellence, and an appreciation for our culture are critical values to instill within our children.

How can you contribute to the BBS community as a PTA member? (150-200 words)

The success of the PTA hinges on its ability to foster a collaborative environment between parents and teachers to improve the academic and social environment for our children. Through my extensive experience in human resources management, I would like to actively shape the BBS community culture into a positive experience for children, parents, and teachers. Similarly, as I used to do with new staff and managers in my companies, I would like to work with new parents and school staff to involve them in our community, learn from them, and facilitate their transition process.

My Master's Degree in Event Management is uniquely important to achieve the PTA's goals. First, I want to strengthen communication channels between the school's stakeholders. Secondly, I would like to continually improve the community meetings and workshops to maintain BBS's position as Kuwait's leading private school. Finally, I have extensive experience in planning all types of events; carnivals etc. that I would like to actively participate in.

Most importantly, I have the passion, time and energy to invest into the PTA and I hope to obtain your support to achieve our goals for our children.
