By Mr. Kevin:

Welcome to the first edition of the Student Newsletter for 2017/2018! Our students have done a wonderful job in collecting information, writing articles and taking photos to capture the great things happening in the Middle School so that our parents can be informed and stay up-to-date. As always, we are here to help, so please don't hesitate to get in touch should you have any questions.

Kind regards,

Mr Kevin

The First Month of School

The first month of school is finally over! After the summer break, most of us are still getting used to the routine of school. During the past few weeks, we have all been getting to know our teachers, catching up with our friends, and going through the struggle of remembering where our classes are. Now the 7th and 8th graders might not have been struggling as much because they have experience with the routine, but the 6th graders were bending over backwards trying to get accustomed to the new divisions rules. Some of the things that are new to the 6th graders are the ABC cycle schedule, the passing periods, and the lockers. Getting mixed up with the uniforms, forgetting what day it is, and trouble opening the lockers are just a few of the problems the new comers are facing. Another significant new thing to the new students is the teachers. The sixth graders say that they are very kind and supportive.

In conclusion, I wish all new students good luck in the coming months, and I hope that they grow accustomed to the BBS middle school family.

Air Pods are bluetooth, wireless ear phones designed by the brand Apple. With two generations of iPhone now headphone jack-free, qualms about the lack of a headphone jack on Apple's smartphones has died down. Some of that is because people are making do with the 3.5mm headphone jack adapter that comes in the box, and some is because of consistent advancement among the best wireless headphones on the market.

Alongside the iPhone 8 and iPhone 8 Plus, Apple announced a third iPhone this year: the iPhone X (pronounced "ten"). While boasting similar performance to the iPhone 8 Plus, the iPhone X ditches the traditional "chin and forehead" that iPhones have had since the beginning. Instead, the entire front of the phone, save for the notch at the top, is all screen, all the time.
